THE NAVY YARD ACCIDENT.

SECRETARY HERBERT APPROVES THE FINDINGS OF THE COURT.

Civil Engineers Menocal and White, Who Were Found Responsible for the Aceldent, but "Reprobates" Their Conduct, WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. - Secretary Herbert has severely reprimanded Civil Engineers Menosal and White as responsible for the dry dock accident at the New York Navy Yard last August, but has declined to court martial these officers. In a letter sent Mr. Menocal yesterday the Secretary says that, in view of that officer's long and faithful service, he would not court martial him, but the findings of the court are approved and the department "reprobates" Menocal's conduct. Mr. White, whose responathility was in less degree, was similarly "reprobated." Constructor Bowles, on whom an effort was made to shift the blame, was expnerated. The fludings of the court were in the main as follows:

"About May 1, 1898, the Naval Constructor, F. T. Bowles, made a recommendation as to certain repairs necessary to be made to the caisson of dry dock No. 2. This called for the removal of a portion of the loose stone ballast in the caisson. Civil Engineer A. G. Menocal, as the senior civil engineer at this yard, had charge of the work, the manner of its performance, &c., and he had special charge of the work, as he took that upon himself, being in the habit of dividing the work in the yard with his arsistants. He made certain calculations to satisfy himself as to the safety of doing the work as he proposed, and he asked the Naval Constructor for his professional opinion on the same subject. Mr. Bowles assured him that in his opinion it was perfectly safe, and Mr. Menocal ordered the work performed.

"The calculations Mr. Menocal made were made by assuming the weight of the calsson with fittings and permanent ballast, the weight of stone pallast, and the coefficient of friction between the rubber gasket and the iron of the caisson. While the testimony shows that theoretically, from the calculations made by Mr. retically, from the calculations made by Mr. Menocal, before and since the accident occurred, there was a margin of safety of about 200 tons, after removing the stone ballast from the catson, there was no precedent to fix that amount as sufficient under all conditions of tide and weather. The stone ballast could have been placed on the working deck of the caisson and the work accomplished with perfect safety, but at a slightly increased avenue.

"The Naval Constructor's letter, which by approval became the order of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, authorizing this work, called for the removal of 'a portion' of the stone ballast; yet Mr. Menocal removed it all, on the statement of Constructor Bowles as to his intention when he wrote the letter, as will be seen from Mr. Bowles's testimony, and that Mr. Menocal failed to ask the Bureau's approval of this interpretation.

Memoral latted to ask the following this interpretation.

"Mr. Menocal practically left the yard on Friday at noon, his regular leave beginning on Saturday at noon. Civil Engineer U. S. G. White relieved Mr. Memoral on both occasions, and while he (Mr. White) knew of the condition White relieved Mr. Menocal on both occasions, and while he Mr. White knew of the condition the caisson was in at the time, he received no special instructions in regard thereto. As head of the department he assumed charge, and in his testimony he stated that had he been doing the work he would not have taken all of the stone ballast out at once. Still, when he was absolutely in charge, he did not admit any water ballast, although he knew the caisson was to remain in place until Monday before any work was to be done. His statement that he did not do so, as the caisson had been so left by Mr. Menocal, and that it had stood two high tides in that same condition, seems unsatisfactory, in the face of his testimony before mentioned. Although Civil Engineer White considered the manner of performing the work unsafe, he not only did not admit water hallast, but he failed to report his suspicions to the proper authority, neither did he visit the dry dock at all to inspect the work.

We find that the several vessels secured in the vicinity of the dock were injured to a more or less degree, and that such injury was the direct result of the accident, and that they were all properly made fast to meet ordinary emergencies, and therefore that no blame attaches to any one in reference to such injuries. The examination of the dock since it was pumped out having above to any one in reference to such injuries. The all properly made fast to meet ordinary emergencies, and therefore that no blame attaches to any one in reference to such injuries. The examination of the dock since it was pumped out having shown no other cause for the accident, we still believe that the removal of all the loose ballast was the cause.

"The court is also of the opinion that further proceedings should be had in the case of Civil Engineer A. G. Menocal, U. S. N., on the grounds that he was careless and inefficient in the performance of duty in acting on the advice of Naval2 Constructor F. T. Bowles, U. S. N., without even inquiring on what grounds he based his opinion, and, furthermore, that he did not visit the caisson after Thursday, at about 4:30 P. M., when the ballast had not been all removed, though he remained on duty in charge of the department of yards and docks until Saturday noon.

"The court is also of the opinion that further proceedings should be had in the case of Civil Engineer U. S. G. White, U. S. N., on the ground that he was careless and neglected his duty in failing to advice the Commandant that the caisson was unsafe without stone or water ballast when he relieved Mr. Menocal at noon on Saturday, he being of the opinion that he would not have removed all the stone ballast, as shown in his testimony, had he been in charge of the department at the time it was done; and also the work after relieving Mr. Menocal in order to properly inform himself of the important work being done in his department.

"The above further proceedings recommended in both the case of Civil Engineer A.

Sheehan said yesterday that a boy, whose name he does not know, pushed over a lot of packages which were in Sheehan's charge, and that when he tried to stop the boy, Hugh Clark, the engineer, who was running the elevator, struck at him. THE SEABOARD AIR LINE. Thomas F. Hyan's Account of the Pallur

Thomas F. Ryan made the following state ment yesterday regarding the Seaboard Air Line situation: "The story of this transaction from the beginning to end is perfectly plain, and there is no reason why it should not be made public. I have desired for some time to purchase the stock of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad. With that object in view I obtained through Gen. John Gill, President of the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company of Baltimore. options upon about 2,500 shares of the stock. I then went to Portsmouth on the night preceding the annual stockholders' meeting for the purpose of negotiating with other stockholders who

"On the forenoon of the annual meeting I met. in the office of the counsel of the company. Messrs, Louis McLane, Moncure Robinson, and L. R. Watts. They informed me that they could sell and deliver to me at least a majority of the stock if a price could be agreed upon. I did not question their assertion or their responsibility. I did not even ask to see their authorization, but assumed that they were honorable, trustworthy, and acting in good faith.

"The sole questions in the negotiations related to, first, the price to be paid for the stock which they agreed to sell, and, second, as to the time that should be allowed me for examining the books to verify certain representations they then made regarding the condition of the company and property. The only conditions imposed by Messrs. McLane, Robinson, and Watts were that I should purchase the stock of the Bay Line Steamboat Company at a price agreed upon, and should give to every holder of stock in the Seaboard and Roanoke Railread the privilege of selling his stock to me at the same price as that fixed for the stock which they personally sold to me. I assented to these conditions, we agreed upon the price to be paid for the stock, upon the time to be allowed me for examination of the books, and we completed and executed on that day a contract of purchase and sale, and I paid $60,000 on account of such purchase.

"Relying upon their representations, I availed purchased and paid for the stock which had been put in his hands.

"On Oct. 12 they refused to allow me to examine the books, but even this did not deter me from endeavoring to carry out my part of the contract to the letter, and I went to Baltimore on Saturday last prepared to take from Messra. McLane, Robinson, and Watta the stock which I had nurstressed

McLane, Robinson, and Watta the stock which I had purchased.

"They were not ready to deliver it, and now say that they are unable to perform their part of the courtact, and only one of two conclusions is possible. Either they deliberately misrepresented the facts at the time they said they could sell me the stock and made a contract to that effect, or they deliberately broke a contract which they were in fact able to perform.

"Asde from their verbai representation to me that they were able to sell me a majority of the stock, the recital of the contract which they signed states plainly that they 'are stockholders in the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad Company, and also represent a large amount of stock pany, and also represent a large amount of stock in said corporation held by others, and that they 'n behalf of themselves and associate stockholders are desirous of making a sale of all their stock in said corporation, and also the shares of all such other stockholders as join with them prior to Oct. 18, 1896. This recital was followed by a plain contract of purchase and sale, which also contained the following provision:

and sale, which also contained the following provision:

"The party of the second part (Thomas F. Ryan) makes this contract to purchase, relying on the representation that the railroad companies comprising the Seaboard Air Line System are free of all floating debt due to any creditor other than some company in that system. Said party of the second part is to have forty days from this date within which to have an examination made into the condition and accounts of said corporation and system and to determine whether said representation is correct.

counts of said corporation and system and to determine whether said representation is correct.

"On Oct, 12 I sent to the company's office to make the examination thus provided for and was refused permission to look at the books, and all opportunity to look at them has been refused ever since, notwithstanding the fact that the signers of the contract, which contained the foregoing provision, constituted one-half of the Board of Directors. What new light these gentlemen obtained as to the condition of the company between Oct, 8, when they made their representations to me and agreed that I should have the opportunity to examine, and Oct, 12, when they refused me that opportunity. I do not know, but they seem to have preferred to break their contract rather than to permit me to verify their representations.

"I understand that the principal argument used to prevent stockholders other than those who made the agreement with me from selling was the assertion that I was purchasing in the interests of the Southern Railway Company and would not operate the road independently. This assertion has never had the least foundation in fact, and I so stated to the gentlemen who signed the contract at the time of its execution. I have never in this transaction, either directly or indirectly, represented the Southern Railway Company or anybody interested in that company, or interested in any Southern railway company whatever, or anybody but myself.

"I own now more of the stock of the Sasboard myself.

"I own now more of the stock of the Seaboard Company than all the directors and officers of the company put together, and I expect to have something to say regarding its future."

GRAND CENTRAL CRACKER

DR. CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW MAKES AN INVESTIGATION.

is a Result Me Pilippantly Says Me Tried in Vala to Get His Life Insurance In-ercased—The Fewder in the Bag the Kind Used to Make Red Pire at Theatres. When the finding of a bag of gunpowder, with a fuse attached, in the annex of the Grand Central Station on Tuesday night was reported to President Depew yesterday morning, he caused a most careful investigation to be made. What he learned is given in a statement which ne made to a Sun reporter yesterday afternoon. Mr. Depew said : "That was an awful thing, the finding of that bag of powder. When I heard of it I immediately made application to have my life insurance increased, but every company in New York considered the risk too great. When I heard about what the new journalism calls an infernal machine, I concluded to find out all I could about it. I had a look at it myself, and it looked as harmless as an old bag of salt. Then I asked that an investigation be made, and that all the facts relating to the finding of the bag, together with a statement of what it contained, be reported to me. When I received those reports I drew my own conclusions from them.

"Some of the powder was tested. When a match was applied to it there was a flash, a burst of red flame, and there was nothing, not even smoke. The specimen burned left no residuum. From all this I concluded that the bag did not contain gunpowder at all, but that it did contain five or six pounds of the powder used in theatres to surround the devil with the appropriate red light when he goes upon the stage. You remember the puff of red flame that comes ap through the trap door in the stage of the Friate red light when he goes upon the stage. You remember the puff of red flame that comes up through the trap door in the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House when Mephistopheles appears in the opera of "Faust?" Well, that flame is made from the same kind of powder that was found in the bag.

"Now there is every reason to believe the bag contained that kind of powder. Over the tracks between which the bag was found no passenger trains are ever unloaded, and the only baggage cars that are run in on those tracks are the cars containing theatrical baggage. The tracks are used almost exclusively for that purpose. Some theatrical baggage was taken from cars on those tracks Tuesday morning. My opinion is that, in unloading that, or some other baggage belonging to a theatrical company, the bag of powder, intended to generate flames from the infernal regions in some play house, was dropped unknowingly where it was found.

"The theory that the bag was intended for a bomb is utterly absurd. If a man wants to blow up something or somebody, he will, ordinarily, use something that will do some damage. If the powder in that bag had been set affire it would have done as much damage to property lying near it as would a cannon freernacker; and that, too, taking for granted that it contained gunpowder, which it didn't. Further than that, a bomb exploder usually wants to kill some one. If 400 bags, all filled with gunpowder, he deen exploded where this one was found, the explosion wouldn't have hurt anybody, for the simple reason that nobody, save occasionally some person connected with the road, is ever in the vicinity where the bag was found.

"But above and beyond all this, I do not believe that there is anybody so bloodthirsty as would desire to interfere with the traffic of the sompany. Neither do I believe that there is any one, no matter what grudge he may have against the company or its officials, would satisfy that grudge by exploding a bomb where thousands of innocent persons whom the Central brings into New York wou

GLE4SON SATS, "NOT GUILTY," Long Island City Executive Answers the Charge of Election Fraud.

Mayor Patrick Jerome Glesson appeared be fore Justice Gaynor in the Supreme Court at Long Island City yesterday and pleaded not guilty to the indictment charging him with vio lating the election law. Justice Gaynor said that the demurrer must be filed by 10 o'clock next Saturday morning if one was to be entered, and he should return to Long Island City on Monday to hear the argument in case the demurrer was filed.

District Attorney Noble asked the Court not o adjourn the case, but to set a day for trial during the present term.

Mr. Stephens objected. He said that the case should take the same course as other indictments. "The Mayor took special pains to apand the election was one of the fairest ever

"and the election was one of the fairest ever held in the city. No one disputed the correctness of the returns, and it was the first time in years that charges of fraud or court proceedings had not followed an election."

Mr. Biephens maintained that Mayor Gleason was fully justified in taking precautions to secure competent men to act as election officials in view of the wrong the inspectors of last year had attempted. They were indicted for trying to count Mr. Gleason out. Mr. Stephens stated that they had gone unpunished, which, he believed, was either due to the incompetency of the District Attorney, or that officials office. District Attorney, or that officials office. District Attorney, which had been indicted and brought to trial within six weeks, and it was largely on that account that Mr. Gleason was able to get his office without long litigation.

Justice Gaynor said that he would consider the question of trying the case at the present term. He said, however, that it might be necessary to send it over to the January term or transfer it to the County Court.

Michigan Railroads Consider a Uniform

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 18.-The Michigan Pas senger Association to-day discussed the advisability of issuing an interchangeable mileage book, good on every road in the State, at two cents a mile. For years the commercial travellers and merchants of this and other large cities in Michigan have endeavored to get such a concession from the railroads, and at every session of the Legislature they have tried to force the issue, but have always been beaten. The situation is now changed. Governor-elect Pingree has announced that he wants a rate of two cente a mile on all roads without any book, and that he will fight for it.

In order to remove from the field of contention the great influence of the wholesale merchants and travelling men, the Michigan passenger agents to-day agreed that in case the Contral Passenger Committee meeting at Chicago to-morrow should recommend the interchangeable mileage book it shall be adopted here. An assistant general passenger agent said to-night: "We hope this will shut off Pingree's two-cents-a-mile scheme. We shall decide the matter atour annual meeting, held Dec. 10, and I have no doubt that the interchangeable mileage book will be adopted."

PHILAPELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Samuel Dickson one of the Reading Hailway attorneys, said to day that the receivers of the old Reading Railroad will transfer the property to the new corporation at midnight on Nov. 30. Church; Comptroller, Daniei Jones and General Solicitor, exJudge J. D. Campbell. The directors also formally approved the issuing of $20,000,000 of bonds, and a mortgage will be executed for this amount to secure the bonds. The directors of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iroa Company also met to-day and accepted the deed of conveyance given by Messrs. The Rev. Dr. Morais of Philadelphia then took the floor. He said the present Convention was a great event in the history of Judaism.

"I had entertained," said he, "a disparaging conception regarding my sisters in faith in the far West. I had thought they were so dereitd in the observance of religion that their homes would cease to be recognized as Jewish and their children cease to be Jews. I was assured, however, by correspondents and by word of mouth that they are again in line fignting with spiritual weapons for Judaism. I beg of you to stand for your religion, and in order so to stand you must undersand what it is. Going to the synagogue is not to be a Jew; you must go to the source, the living fountain, the Bible."

This was amended by inserting at the beginning of the article these words: "The purposes of this organization are—to serve the best interests of Judaism."
